

Cautions on use of applications created by application partners

Disclaimer:

We provide no support for operations of any and all applications added after an application is already installed in a camera.

Depending on the added application, the functions and performance of the camera may be degraded.

Therefore, it is recommended to check the application operation before purchasing. Refer to the “Disclaimer of warranty” in the Basic Information of the camera for further information.

Request from us:

1. Depending on the added application, an application release license (WV-XLE001W) may be required separately.
Refer to and check the operating conditions of the applications on the partner list.
2. Please contact the partner who developed the application regarding the operation and specifications of the application made by the application partner.